DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

2. Claim 4 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claim 4 recites "said peripheral option display" on lines 1-2. There is insufficient antecedent basis for these limitations in the claims.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent, or on an international application by another who has fulfilled the requirements of paragraphs (1), (2), and (4) of section 371(c) of this title before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent.

The changes made to 35 U.S.C. 102(e) by the American Inventors Protection Act of 1999 (AIPA) do not apply to the examination of this application as the application being examined was not (1) filed on or after November 29, 2000, or (2) voluntarily published under 35 U.S.C. 122(b). Therefore, this application is examined under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) prior to the amendment by the AIPA (pre-AIPA 35 U.S.C. 102(e)).

Art Unit: 2174

4. Claims 1 and 3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Applicant's Admitted Prior Art ("Admitted Prior Art", Specification, page 2).

As per independent claim 1, Admitted Prior Art teaches a user interface for controlling peripheral devices comprising: a peripheral option display for presenting peripheral options to a user immediately following selection of the peripheral device (page 2, lines 12-16).

Claim 3 is similar in scope to claim 1, and is therefore rejected under similar rationale.

5. Claims 1 and 3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Netscape Communicator 4.61 ("Netscape").

As per independent claim 1, Netscape teaches a user interface for controlling peripheral devices comprising: a peripheral option display for presenting peripheral options (figure 2) to a user immediately following selection of the peripheral device (figure 1).

Claim 3 is similar in scope to claim 1, and is therefore rejected under similar rationale.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

6. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

7. Claims 2 and 4-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Netscape Communicator 4.61 ("Netscape").

As per claim 2, Netscape does not disclose the use of a bypass function for deselecting said peripheral option display. However, the use of a bypass function with a check/turn off box to suppress the display of an associated but optional dialog is well known in the art, and thus it would have been obvious to an artisan at the time of the invention to include such a feature with Netscape in order to save users from having to go through another dialog screen unnecessarily when no further changes to the default are required.

Claims 4 and 5 are similar in scope to claim 2, and are therefore rejected under similar rationale.
